

Exercise: Moralization does not introduce new independence statements

The process of “moralizing” a DAG means connecting together all “unmarried” parents that share a common child, and then dropping all the arrows. Let M be the moralization of DAG G . Show that $CI(M) \subseteq CI(G)$, where CI are the set of conditional independence statements implied by the model.